

NEPIA TAKUIRA-MITA

Location: Auckland

Nepia Takiura-Mita has carved out a space as one of Aotearoa's most exciting multi-platform entertainers. From television to digital media, live events, and cultural advocacy, his presence is felt across a range of industries. His ability to connect with audiences in an authentic, engaging way makes him a sought-after choice for media campaigns, brand activations, and public relations initiatives.

With six seasons as 'Hemi' on Ahikāroa and now a core cast member on Shortland Street, Nepia has built a solid career in television. His growing profile in the industry makes him an excellent choice for entertainment media opportunities, sponsorships, and collaborations that require an established yet rising talent.

Nepia's work extends beyond traditional media. His online presence continues to gain momentum, with collaborations with international brands such as Universal Music. A major career highlight includes performing live with Keith Urban in Australia—solidifying his ability to work across different industries and audiences. His high-engagement digital content makes him a strong candidate for influencer marketing and brand partnerships.

As a passionate advocate for Te Reo Māori, Nepia actively works to promote and revitalise the language through his work in media. His role in Te Reo Rangatira showcases his dedication to kaupapa Māori storytelling, making him a meaningful choice for culturally aligned campaigns, educational initiatives, and speaking engagements that value authenticity.

Nepia's infectious energy and ability to connect with people have made him a key figure in both digital and live spaces. As one half of Come Vibe With Us alongside Harrison Keefe, his dance and entertainment content has captured audiences worldwide.
